Standard
In New Zealand, we require nurses be able to communicate effectively with patients, colleagues, employers and other health professionals. You must pass a Council approved English language test before you apply for registration.

Evidence Requirements
You can take the test in any country. You must supply a certified copy of your test result.

The English language assessment results must be less than three years old at the time you submit your application for registration. Note: we have no overall minimum score requirement.

You can achieve the minimum score in the English language assessments over more than one sitting, however the required score must be met within 12 months of first sitting the test.

There are two tests you can take: Occupational English Test (OET) or International English Language Testing System (IELTS) academic.

OET
Please click here for further information on OET.

For results prior to August 2018
You must achieve a minimum score of B for each band: reading, writing, listening and speaking. We do not accept a C+ pass.

For results after September 2018
You must achieve a minimum score of 350 for each band: reading, writing, listening and speaking. We do not accept a C+ (300 – 340) pass.

You must provide the Council:
- access to your OET report/s. Please click here for detailed instructions on how to select the Nursing Council of New Zealand as a verifying institution
- your OET candidate number/s. Please refer to the FAQs for more information on where to find your candidate number.

An example of a succession of OET tests which meets our requirements is presented below:

Waiver request

If you completed your nursing education and are registered as a nurse in the United Kingdom, Ireland, Canada or the United States of America, you can request a waiver of the English language standard.

If you have registered and practised in one of the above countries and you had to complete an English language tests, you may also apply for a waiver of the English language standard.

You must also supply a certified copy of an identification document that contains your photograph (other than your passport).

For example, Aarav is from India, but has been working as a registered nurse in Ireland for the last ten years. Aarav sat an English language test to achieve registration in Ireland, is a registered nurse and is practising in Ireland, so Aarav can apply for an ELA waiver.
